

Imagine Festival invites you to

Dialogue Day Tuesday March 21st 2017

*ten venues, ten conversations,
10.00 am, one topic:*

Surviving or Thriving in Turbulent Times

How it works

You choose one of the venues, you register on-line, you come along prepared to talk and listen, and drink coffee.

In two short hours you will have had an experience of dialogue that will surprise you, you will meet new people, you will have your ideas heard and challenged. You may even be inspired to go out and do something new as a result.

Every venue will be doing a dialogue on the same topic: Surviving or thriving in turbulent times. Dialogue is a simple structured way for people to share and hear on a topic they hold in common.

Why?

It's good to talk. Talking with strangers is a brilliant thing to do and for many people not easy. Dialogue Day was started in the Netherlands more than ten years ago to enable conversations among people to foster a greater sense of belonging. It's a big success there and we were inspired to help get Northern Ireland talking. We need you to help us grow this.

Why You?

Mostly because you read this. It's that simple. Dialogue Day is for everyday people who "wouldn't normally do that type of thing" – people who are curious about people and the world. The goal is simple – to have a dialogue with people you don't know.
